Salt Lake City Heads List in Per Capita Expense on Schools

WASHINGTON, July 27.—According to figures prepared by the census bureau, the larger cities of the country pay more for schools than do the smaller ones. Salt Lake City being only $5.65 per person, and those of Denver, $24.44.

Salt Lake City paid most per capita for schools, $5.18, but Newton, Mass., with $8, was a close second. In this respect, Montgomery, Ala., made the lowest expenditure, $1.63 per capita.

The figures are given out as a part of the bureau's report covering the financial operations for cities during the year 1908.

The report covers all cities of more than 20,000 population, of which there are 158. The aggregate cost of operating these cities was $494,967,312.

Increase in Cost Shown.

The report indicates a general increase in the cost of maintaining city governments. In 1902 the average was $12.25 per capita. By 1908 it had advanced to $16.81. Of the total amount, more than one-fourth was paid by New York. Philadelphia's expenses were only about one-fourth as much as those of New York. But large as were the figures for New York, the people of Boston paid more in proportion to population. The New England metropolis heads the list with an expense cost of $27.58 for each person.

Of the large cities, New York comes next, with a cost of $24.71, while Washington, with a cost of $24.44, makes a close third. Of the first class cities, New Orleans paid less for city government than any other, the cost being only $12.76 per capita. Baltimore, with an expenditure of $13.34, was a close second. Of the cities of the second class, Denver stood at the head and St. Joseph, Mo., at the foot of the list, the figures for the Missouri city being only $5.65 per person, and those of Denver, $24.44.

Salt Lake City paid most per capita for schools, $5.18, but Newton, Mass., with $8, was a close second. In this respect, Montgomery, Ala., made the lowest expenditure, $1.63 per capita.

FRENCH GRAFTER NAILED AND SENT TO PRISON

PARIS, July 27.—Henri Rochette, the French promoter, was today found guilty of swindling through a violation of the corporation law, and condemned to two years imprisonment and to pay a fine of $600. The trial was long and sensational.

Rochette was arrested on March 23, 1908, accused of having fraudulently obtained more than $12,000,000 through the medium of his various companies and societies. Upon his arrest the enormous line of shares in which he was interested collapsed.

Rochette's shareholders got together and proved that his companies were on a sound financial basis and there was no natural cause for the fall in his securities. The name of former Premier Clemenceau was brought into the matter through the openly made allegation that he caused Rochette's arrest. This Clemenceau denied.
